ENGINE WRECKED BY BROKEN SHAFT

Towboat Mary Michael Lies at Forked Deer River

Crew Has Narrow Escape From Flying Cylinder and Captain Is Knocked Down.

DAMAGES THREE THOUSAND.

Captain Emory Volkert, mate Charles Mitchell and the entire crew of the towboat Mary Michael returned to the city last night by rail, having left their boat lying at the mouth of the Forked Deer river with a broken shaft and demolished engine room. The accident occurred Sunday morning while the boat was leaving the Forked Deer river at its juncture with the Mississippi river, for Paducah with two barges of logs for the Ferguson-Palmer mills.

Engineer George Kreutcher had the narrowest escape of the crew from a flying piece of the cylinder. Just as he left his chair on the boiler deck to enter the engine room, the shaft broke and a piece of the cylinder struck the chair splintering it and hurling the fragments into the river.

The accident was so sudden that Captain Volkert in the pilot house was hoisted and various other members of the crew were shaken up. The damages will be between $2,500 and $3,500, as the two engines on one side were almost totally wrecked by the reaction of the cylinder. The Mary Michael is the property of the heirs of the George Hock estate.

The wheel dropped into the river after the accident and the boat floated dangerously for a mile or so before the crew could bring it to the bank. One anchor was lost and several ropes and chains were parted in this effort. The boat was finally gotten to the bank by pitching out an anchor toward the bank and hauling on the ropes. Fortunately when the accident occurred the boat was not far out in the river. The wheel and what fragments that could be caught were tied to the boat and the crew took two wagons and drove 20 miles to Ripley, Tenn., from there coming up to Paducah by rail.

Captain Volkert today is looking for another towboat to go down after the Mary Michael. The Martha Henn will probably be secured. The crippled boat will be brought to Paducah for repairs, as there are no facilities within miles of the Forked Deer river to repair the damage.

Almost coincident with the accident in the Mary Michael, was a similar accident to the Pacific, No. 2, one of the Pittsburg New Orleans towboats. The Mary Michael passed the Pacific Thursday at Stewart's landing on the Mississippi river below Cairo, and the shaft was broken. The wheel was lost and the engines were wrecked. Other boats making Paducah have met with accidents near the Forked Deer river.

HOME TELEPHONE COMPANY MAY BID ON NEW FRANCHISE

Probably Will Provide To Retain Present Maximum on Party Lines and Moderate
Increase on Others

LIMIT PLACED ON CHARGES.

It is understood that if another telephone franchise is offered for sale by the city the Home Telephone company will be a bidder. While this company is operating under a franchise, it is said, the officers would be glad to secure certain advantages, both for the concern and its service, which are limited under the present franchise.

Whether another franchise will be offered is problematical. The East Tennessee Telephone company made the point in its suit with the city that no franchise has been offered it. To meet this point one was drawn and submitted to the general council, and it is believed the terms would have been acceptable to the company. The board of aldermen rejected the franchise, on the ground that its terms should not be more liberal than those granted the Home company.

If a franchise is offered, a compromise probably will be effected in its terms, between the severe strictures on the Home company and the demands of the East Tennessee company. More than likely the maximum now allowed the Home company will be retained on party lines, while a limited advance will be allowed on other telephones, with 1,000 subscribers as the basis.

CHASE AFTER MAD (?) DOG.

Pistols and wildly excited boys chasing a supposed mad dog, created great excitement in the vicinity of Fourth and 11th streets last evening about 7 o'clock. In the early afternoon a small car visited the residence of the Rev. Peter Fields and fought a pet dog. The intruder was driven away and visited other residencies, fighting every dog he saw.

The report gained currency that it was mad, and boys secured pistols and started to kill it. Several shots were fired, one taking effect in the neck, but not producing death. The dog after a hard run outstripped his owners.

EPILEPTIC FELL IN TENN. RIVER

Hugh McClain Drowned Sometime Sunday Morning

Was Out in Skiff Examining His Trot Lines and Empty Skiff Was Seen From Shore.

LIVED WITH WIDOWED MOTHER.

Suffering an epileptic spell while alone in a skiff out in the Tennessee river opposite Owen's island, Hugh McClain, 19 years old, of 220 Tennessee street, fell out of the skiff and was drowned Sunday morning. There were no witnesses of the occurrence and his death was discovered by persons on the river front noticing his skiff floating empty down the river.

McClain rented a skiff at the West Kentucky Coal company's tipple on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock to go out to his trot line. He was last seen while at his work and is supposed to have drowned about 10 o'clock. On discovering the skiff without McClain, several parties were organized to search for him and his body was found at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon by dragging the river. Coal tar was on his hands when found, indicating that he had been working on his trot line.

Coroner Frank Baker held an inquest Sunday afternoon immediately after the body was recovered from the river and the verdict was death by drowning, due to McClain's falling in river from an epileptic spell. He had suffered from these attacks several years. McClain lived with his widowed mother, who is prostrated with grief over his death. Relatives from out-of-town have been summoned to care for him. By trade McClain was a machine hand at the Paducah Furniture Manufacturing company.

The funeral will be tomorrow morning if McClain's brother, who is out on one of the Aver-Lord tugs, can be found, with burial in Oak Grove cemetery.

MARSHALL CROPS ARE EXCELLENT

Average Yield of Grains and Seventy Five Per Cent of Tobacco Now Seen Certain
Graves County Institute

FOUR GIRLS FALL OFF HORSES.

Benton, Ky., July 15.—Crop conditions in Marshall county have improved wonderfully in the last few weeks and the farmers are feeling a great deal better than they did a month or so ago. The hay crop equals any Marshall has ever raised, and the wheat crop is but little less than our average crops. Corn is late but with anything like favorable weather it will be a good crop. Tobacco is the only crop that shows a falling off, and even it is slight. Marshall will raise about 75 per cent of an average tobacco crop, but the increase in the price will more than make up for the shortage in yield. Business with the local merchants is fine, and showing nice increases over any previous year. The whole county is enjoying an era of prosperity never before attained. Deposits in the local banks are the largest in their history, evidencing in a material way the substantial basis underlying conditions.

GRIMES COUNTY INSTITUTE.

Mayfield, Ky., July 15.—(Special)—

—Fully 160 teachers were present when County Superintendent W. C. Dowds called the Grimes County Institute to order at the court house

this morning. The sessions will conclude five days. Prof. A. C. Burton, of Morganfield, is conducting the institute, which starts out with more interest than any in recent years.

EVERYONE WORKS LIKE UNTO CLOCK

And Independents Defeat the Creek Fulton Team

About Three Hundred Fans Witness the Exhibition at Wallace Park Grounds.

SCORES IN THE BIG LEAGUES

Everybody working with clocklike regularity, both in the field and at the bat, is responsible for the John Hollan Independents defeating Fulton's creek baseball team Sunday afternoon at Wallace park. The score was 5 to 1, and the one run credited to the visitors was secured through error. Good playing was seen on all sides, some Paducah players showing up brilliantly.

Rain at 2 o'clock kept many fans away, but at 3 o'clock the clouds had cleared away and the weather was ideal for a game. Umpire Ed Smith called the game at 3 o'clock and there were about 300 in the grand stand to witness it. Arnold and Block, Neal and White were the batters. Arnold showed up well from the start and Block with his stick was a feature, Dek Brable at second base had 12 chances, averaging them all without a bobble, getting in addition two put outs and a bungle or two at the bat.

The score: R H E

Fulton ..... 1 3 2
Batters—Arnold and Block, Neal and White.

Peals Defeat Specials.
The Peals defeated the Specials Sunday by a score of 4 to 2. The game was one of the closest ever played on the Eighth and Burnett streets' diamond. Good pitching and fast fielding kept the scores low. The feature of the game was Harhour, catcher for the Peals, stealing home on Johnson, pitcher for the Specials. Manager Smith has signed several new players in the last few days and expects to have one of the strongest teams in the city. The Peals will meet the Cairo Indians Sunday, July 28.

The lineup of Peals follows: Harhour, c; Dunbar, p; Lee Hart, 1b; Kelly, 2b; Smith, 3b; Carroll, ss; Burton, lf; Turkey, cf; Clinton, rf.

TESTED AND PROVEN, There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well- Earned Reputation.

For months Paducah readers have seen the constant expressions of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

W. H. Smith, of 1012 South Fourth street, Paducah, Ky., says: "My back has troubled me for some years past and it would ache so just at the hips that I would have to go and lie down and then I could not get up without help. I tried plasters and everything that would come to my notice that I thought would help me. I did receive some benefit but the trouble would return again in a short time as severe as ever. One day we noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, so I went to Buffols & Co.'s drug store for a box. I took them as directed and in about one week I was able to go about my work as usual. The lameness in my back and shoulders disappeared and my kidneys began to perform their work in the natural way. I found that it was kidney trouble that caused me to ache so much, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of all the trouble and I can cheerfully endorse them." (From a statement given in 1900.)

Cured to Stay Cured.

On February 18, 1907, Mr. Smith said: "Seven years ago Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a severe attack of lame back and kidney trouble. I gave a statement at that time telling of the cure they had effected, and after this long test I take pleasure in again endorsing this remedy to the public for I do not believe they have an equal. Doan's Kidney Pills made a complete cure in my case as I have not had an attack since."

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Mr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and herbs in addition much better than medicinal would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, astringent and antiflammatory. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Balsam Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root, and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery." In subduing chills, & Hangerlong coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry-bark in reducing the fever and helping up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure every severe, obstinate, chronic disease, and especially those with long and tedious courses.

In acute coughs, it is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding iron pines, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Dr. J. H. Ewing, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"Indispensable & Exceedingly useful purpose holding a very important of the properties of glycerine in solution, it is one of the best manufactured articles for the treatment of the action upon inflamed, disordered membranes, especially if there is ulceration or catarrh, & it is a valuable preparation.

Glycerine will tell to many cases of paralysis (neuritis) and excessive gastric (gastritis) trouble.

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood, enlivens blanches, purifies the skin, removes swelling and old sore eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores.

Sent to Dr. H. V. Pearce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

The Great North Country.

Nimrod was a mighty hunter, but had he hunted in the "Temagami" region he would have been a mighty one. Nimrod hunted for glory, but Temagamians hunt for game. Those Indians who made the first canoe of birch bark long ago, were our greatest benefactors. The children of these Indians know the canoe, and they know how to use it, and if you go to Temagami this summer they will paddle your canoe in their own superb way. They will be the best guides you ever had. Students who camp in summer along the Temagami lakes, are able to do two years' work in one. Finest of all by the Grand Trunk Railway System. CHAPTER XVII.

Philip walked on roses during those glorious days. He had found his mate. His life was complete. How bright the world and how fair the future.

The only disagreeable incident marking the inner joy of existence, and that only for an instant, was his encounter with Langdon at Mrs. Atherley's pretty flat in Mount street.

Grener, endowed by nature with an occasional retrospective glimpse of a milder character, read him correctly when he said that Anson would never condescend to name his intruder in the presence of the woman he loved.

But he did ask a servant who it was with whom he had just been conversing in the entrance hall, and the girl said the gentleman was a Mr. Langdon. No, Mrs. Atherley did not know him well. He was brought to her at Langdon on a previous Wednesday by a friend.

Obviously Evelyn could not have more than a passing acquaintance with the man or she would have recognized him herself. Her agitation that night in the park, the terror of a silent situation, was enough to account for her failure in this respect, nor was Philip then aware that at her previous meeting with Lady Morland's son she entertained a serious suspicion, instantly dispelled by his glib manner, that Langdon was the man who sought her at her home.

"Philip, I liked you that night. I saw you in the square. You were a wedged in little boy but you were so brave. I gave you my hand to help me from the carriage with the air of a young lad."

"And I have cherished your face in my waking dreams ever since. You looked like a fairy. And how you stuck up for me against your mother!"

"Tell me what did you think of me when you saw me standing disconsolate in the park?"

Tell, tell, tell! It was nothing but sweet questions and sweet assurances that this pair of turtle doves had been seeking each other through all eternity.

Their wedding was fixed for the middle of July. Shop work, it may be said, but what need was there to wait? Mr. Abingdon was greatly pleased with Philip's choice and urged him to settle quickly down a manor, and Lady Morland's admission of reduced circumstances induced that they had chosen the locality for economy's sake.

These appeals longed a frown of indecision to Anson's brow. His uncle and his mother's wife had unquestionably been the means of shortening and embittering his mother's life. The man might have died in ignorance; the woman not.

Yet what could he do? Refuse a dying relative's last request? They or one of them refused his mother's painful demand for a little pecuniary help at a time when they were rich.

And what dire misfortune could have sunk the poor dove? Little more than two months had passed since Sir Philip M. had won his freedom for his (Philip's) whereabouts through Messrs. Sharpe & Smith with a view towards making him his heir.

Was the angry Lady Morland's last curse to save an encumbered estate? Why was all pretense of doubt as to his relationship swept aside so completely?

He gazed again at the address on the letter and asked a servant to bring him a railway guide. Then he ascertained that if he would reach Searisbury that day, he must leave London not later than noon. There was a journey of nearly seven hours by rail; no chance of returning the same night.

He went to the library and rang up Sharpe & Smith on the telephone.

A clerk assured him that Mr. Sharpe, who attended to Sir Philip Morland's affairs, had been summoned to Devonshire the previous day.

"To 'Dreadnought'!" cried Philip. "I have just received letters from Sir Philip and Lady Morland from Yorkshire."

"Mr. Sharpe himself is puzzled about the mother, sir. Lady Morland wrote from Yorkshire, but told him to proceed to London without delay."

"Has there been some unexpected development affecting the estate?"

"I am sorry, sir, but you will see I can hardly answer any further questions."

Of course the clerk was right. Philip had hardly quitted the telephone when a note reached him by hand from Evelyn: "Please come at once. Must see you."

He was at Mount street in three minutes.

I must try and earn a peacock. Just to give you your proper place in society, and then we will grow old gracefully."

"Oh, Philip," she cried, placing her hands on his shoulders, "we met once as children for a few minutes. Fate ordained that we should meet again under strange circumstances. We were separated for years. Can fate play us any meanly trick that will separate us again?"

"Well, sweethearts, fate, in the shape of Wale, is coming for me at 3. Unless you wish me to send for my man and dress like?"

"Sometimes I cannot quite credit my good fortune," she said softly. "Tell me, dearest, how did you manage to live until you were twenty-five with our falling in love with some other girl?"

"That is indubitably easy. Tell me. Low yet managed to escape matrimony until you were twenty-two and you are unanswered."

"Philip, I liked you that night. I saw you in the square. You were a wedged in little boy but you were so brave. I gave you my hand to help me from the carriage with the air of a young lad."

For the CHAFING DISH
Denatured Alcohol

We take pleasure in announcing that we now have Denatured Alcohol for our trade. It is to be used for burning purposes only, as nearly every one now knows, but for use in the arts and mechanics it is the most economical and satisfactory fuel.

It should not be imagined that he was hasty in his decision. To him, Evelyn and he were known to each other since they were children. The mother might now accept the thousands of any man, no matter how rich he might be, for she saw the dr. of Philip's wishes, and if Evelyn were married to him, surely all their previous trials might be deemed fortunate.

She little dreamed that impious Philip had ordered matters his own way.

It was not to his thinking that his bride should come to him from the genteel obscurity of Madras. Presently he would give her a great position, worthy of the highest in the land, and it was better for her that he should woo and win her from the ranks of her order.

It should not be imagined that he was hasty in his decision. To him, Evelyn and he were known to each other since they were children. The mother might now accept the thousands of any man, no matter how rich he might be, for she saw the dr. of Philip's wishes, and if Evelyn were married to him, surely all their previous trials might be deemed fortunate.

The girl's happy tears bedewed the plume.

"A good son makes a good husband," she murmured. "Mamma says I have been a good daughter, and I will try to be a good wife, Philip."

Apparently these young people had attained the very pinnacle of earthly happiness. There was no cloud, no obstacle. All that was best in the world was in their feet.

Some such thought drifted through Philip's native brain once when Evelyn and he were discussing the future.

"Of course we will be busy," he said, laughing. "You are such an industrious little woman, what? Well, such an industrious little woman that the days won't be long enough for all you will find to do. As for me, I suppose

Two Rivermen Start Canoe Trip From Nashville to New Orleans

Nashville, Tenn., July 15.—Joe Loftin and Henry Tanksley, two well known Cumberland river men, pulled away from this port on the longest river journey ever accomplished by canoe in the United States. Their destination is New Orleans, a distance of 1,000 miles, and the trip will consume several weeks.

The adventurers are traveling with a flotilla of three canoes in train fashion, the rear ones carrying the necessary paraphernalia and provisions. By means of four poles fastened ed to the lead canoe's bottom the travelers will be protected from bad weather, as canvas can be raised in instant style on a moment's notice. Heavy tarpaulins will protect a small cooking stove and utensils.

The ultimate destination of the men is Central America. Stops will be made at Paducah, Cairo, Memphis and Vicksburg to replenish supplies.

Two trips down the Mississippi from St. Louis to New Orleans by gasoline launch are on record, but this is the first time canoeists have ever attempted the dangers of the treacherous father of waters in their frail craft. The voyagers, however, are confident of withstanding the heavy waves of the big Mississippi steamers, as they built their boats with their probable experiences on the Mississippi especially in mind.

Temperature, in all of its issues, was discussed last night at the First Christian church by the Rev. John T. Brown, of Louisville. As no evening service was held at several of the churches a large audience was present and despite the warmth of the evening and the length of the sermon, the interest and attention was steadfast. Dr. Brown took all sides of the question and went to the heart of his theme. One of the strong points of the address was that the church must be pure; the reformation must begin at home.

In his travels around the world Dr. Brown did much temperance work. Dr. Brown is an earnest speaker and puts force behind what he says. A tribute was paid to the women of the country and their work in the campaign in New Zealand. Dr. Brown is an enthusiastic for woman suffrage, and from his experiences in New Zealand, thinks relief will be afforded this country when the right of suffrage is given to the women.
